

PROBING INTO IT.

Dr. S. E. Martin Explains the Fight on Him.

THE COLUMBIAN MEDICAL INSTITUTE

Is Really His Institution—Jealousy and Envy Said to be at the Bottom of the Row.

The Columbian Medical Institute is still doing business in the old St. James hotel building on West Sixth street, notwithstanding the statement of Health Officer Dr. C. S. McClintock, that the place had been closed.

Dr. S. E. Martin, president of this institution, resents the charges made against him and says: "I have lived in Topeka over thirty years and have practiced my profession as a physician all the time and I have never until this time been accused of being a quack. While the attack of the health officer is seemingly made at Joe Dolman, it is really a strike at me over the shoulders of the young man. In fact I am the Columbian Institute. I do all the operating and give all the treatment. This young man, J. W. Dolman, has not been attempting to practice medicine or surgery. He has simply been out on the road looking up cases for me; and here Dr. Martin showed the reporter a blank form, on which Dolman reported each case he found with all its symptoms.

Continuing Dr. Martin said: "The whole trouble is that this medical society here is jealous of the business we are working up. In medical ethics it is regarded as unprofessional to either advertise or solicit business. This young man has simply been looking up cases for me to treat and has been making his own living in this way. I don't blame Dr. Clarence McClintock for this thing, for while he is seemingly doing the work, there are older heads back of it, who are responsible. He is just a young man starting in the practice and I have no desire to do him an injury, but I fully understand that the members of this local medical society are back of this fight on me. They need not, however, worry themselves. They can't expel me from their society because I belong to another school of medicine. I am an eclectic and there is nothing that they can do that will either injure me or drive me out of business. A few years ago a fight was made by this society on Dr. Roby, and on Munk, Mulvane & Munk, because they advertised and this society compelled them to quit."

J. W. Dolman, the young man who is said to be guilty of unprofessional conduct, in speaking of the attack made on him, said: "It may be that I have been expelled from the Kansas Medical college, but I had no knowledge of it until I saw the resolutions adopted by the faculty as published in the JOURNAL. In fact I was a student there last term, but that term closed some time ago and they had no power to expel a student who was not in their school; but even if they had that power they have not treated me fairly, as they did not even give me a hearing."

"The members of the faculty of the medical college have known for a long time what kind of business I am engaged in. I have been soliciting cases for expert treatment for about three years, and when I entered the school last fall they understood that I was to put in my extra time at this work. I have not pretended to practice medicine or surgery. But before I started out on the road I went to several members of the faculty and they all agreed, some of them verbally and some of them in writing, to assist me in carrying for any difficult cases, and in which I would call upon them. Clarence McClintock signed an agreement of that kind, but when he came to me a short time ago and said that I was doing a professional work, and that he would be expelled from the society, if his connection was known with my institution, I gave him back the written agreement I had with him. It was after that that he told me I was violating the state law by soliciting business on the road, and asked me to sign an agreement to quit. I did not fully understand what he meant, but

I agreed to sign an agreement to quit doing work on the road temporarily, which I did; and that is the agreement which he says I signed, by which the institution was to be closed.

"Clarence McClintock and I have always been friends, and I have no objection to his getting all the practice he can, but he must accord others the same privilege, and I want it understood that the Columbian Medical Institute is not closed."

NEWS OF RAILROADS.

Mr. Frost's Magnificent Collection. Complete—Other Railroad News.

Within the next few days the Santa Fe land department's collection of western products will be shipped to Germany. Much interest has been manifested in this work along the line, and a history of the collection might not be out of place here.

Shortly after the close of the Columbian exposition at Chicago, Mr. G. Haagen, councilor royal Wurtemberg, department of interior, called upon Mr. D. B. Robinson, first vice president A. T. & S. F. R. R. Co., presenting a letter of introduction from Mr. K. Buehn, imperial German consul, Chicago, desiring to obtain information regarding products of commercial value in America.

He came also as an official representative of the Royal geographical society and museum at Stuttgart, Germany, and in this capacity sought to obtain specimens of raw materials represented at the Columbian exposition for permanent exhibition at Stuttgart.

The work of collecting the various specimens desired, was turned over to Jno. E. Frost, land commissioner, who for several months past has been drawing upon the territory traversed by the Santa Fe, and has as a result of his labors, succeeded in accumulating over 300 fine specimens for the purpose named.

Among these are a great many samples of high grade gold, silver, lead, iron and copper ores from the mining districts contiguous to the Santa Fe road. These various products thus prominently shown in this permanent exhibition will not fail to attract general attention to the resources of America, and thus serve to make known to foreign nations our articles of commercial value, and tend to increase the commerce of the country.

The specimens include products from five states and three territories, and have all been carefully numbered, labeled and catalogued and will be shipped to the agent of the North German Lloyd Steamship company, Chicago, and from thence to Germany.

The collection includes 23 specimens of woods from Missouri; 55 specimens of grain, coal, salt and zinc from Kansas; 50 specimens of cotton, wool and woods from Texas; 2 specimens of cotton from Oklahoma; 78 specimens of ores, minerals, grain, coal, coke and wool from Colorado; 80 specimens of ores, minerals, grain, wool, woods and coal from New Mexico; 3 specimens of sandstone, wool and copper ore from Arizona, and 35 specimens of woods and minerals from California.

THE GREAT NORTHERN VICTORY.

Success of Railway Union Makes a Deep Impression Among Topeka Men.

There is an abundance of good feeling among the railroad men here over the settlement of the Great Northern strike in a way so satisfactory to the American Railway Union. Said a prominent Santa Fe shop man to a STATE JOURNAL reporter today:

"This will soon have a very invigorating effect so far as the union is concerned. It shows plainly that federation is the only way out. The federation is to the railroad orders just what the trades assembly is to the labor unions in a city. Each union has a certain number of delegates, based on its membership, to the assembly.

"Since the victory labor has gained in this case, I now look for a noticeable increase in the membership of the orders, brotherhoods and federations generally. This is the first fight the American Railway Union has had and it has won it fairly."

NO TRUTH IN IT.

Mr. Hitt of the Rock Island Says There's No Difference in Wages.

A report printed to the effect that there is trouble on the Rock Island because the conductors west of the Missouri river are receiving from $10 to $13 less per month than those east of the river and that a delegation of fifteen of them were conferring with Assistant General Manager Allen at Des Moines, was denied today by Superintendent A. J. Hitt.

"It is a fabrication," said he. "The conductors both east and west of the river are now working under a schedule inaugurated on January 1, 1891, and revised May 1, 1893. This schedule makes a uniform rate for all men in each class both east and west of the river, and they are all treated alike. I have heard of no complaint and don't believe there is any. So far as the conference at Des Moines yesterday is concerned, Mr. Allen was and is in Chicago."

SUICIDES AT THE ASYLUM.

Dr. Eastman's Record of Such Affairs During His Incumbency.

In reply to a statement recently printed that there were five suicides at the Insane asylum last summer, Dr. Eastman, ex-superintendent says there were only two and that they were the only cases from July 1, 1893 to March 1, 1894.

He also says that during his fifteen years service from the opening of the asylum there were but nine suicides.

Dr. Eastman is no doubt an expert in his line and in many respects a most capable superintendent of the Insane, but it is a fact that during his administration all sorts of obstacles were thrown in the way of reporters seeking news. It was the policy of the institution to suppress news and the JOURNAL and other papers were obliged to rely on indirect sources which were naturally sometimes incorrect.

Dr. Eastman, it is to be said, has generally come forward, after it was too late to make the first statement authoritative, with a "correction," which would never have been given reporters who always seek facts, but many times find them denied them.

A MORMON ELDER.

James Younger Proves to be a Traveler and Something of a Fraud.

A little more than a week ago an old gray haired man came to Topeka. He walked into the Copeland hotel and introduced himself to proprietor Gordon.

"I am from Arkansas," he said "and want to go to Dubuque. I haven't quite money enough to pay my fare."

Gordon at once became interested in the man who said he was 91 years old and his name James Younger. He gave him a place at the table in his hotel. Through his intercession General Manager Frey of the Santa Fe gave the old man a pass and he left at once apparently happy.

All attempts to get Younger to tell something of his history failed. Nothing was found out concerning his antecedents. Now he bobs up in Nauvoo, Illinois with a story. A special dispatch from that place says:

"This historic Mormon city has had a peculiar sensation, being nothing more or less than the exacting in real life of 'Rip Van Winkle.' Yesterday an aged man arrived in town during the night time and took lodgings at a hotel. The next morning citizens of the place found him wandering about the streets, gazing here and there in a sort of dazed condition, repeating: 'This is not Nauvoo, City of Zion, City of the Saints! Where am I?'

Being informed that he was in Nauvoo, the historic city, the old man, with long white hair and beard, shook his head sadly. 'When I left Nauvoo nearly 50 years ago it was a city filled with the hum of industry. Fifteen thousand people worshipped in a temple that must have stood near this spot. The streets were then filled with people and I could hear the ring of many anvils and the sounds of the workshops. But all is changed.' The ancient visitor was James Younger of Topeka, Kas., and he claims to be 91 years old. He also claims to be a relative of the noted Younger brothers, who operated with the Jesse James gang, one of whom is now serving a life sentence in the Minnesota penitentiary.

Someone doubted his ability to walk very far, whereupon the old fellow jumped to his feet and danced a jig, lasting several minutes, and also executed other acrobatic performances to prove that he could take care of himself. He said he preferred to walk, but was not compelled to do so, and exhibited a good sized wad of money. Younger knows a good deal about the early days of Nauvoo, the Dan-ite band, and perhaps could tell where the bodies of Joseph and Hyram Smith lie buried, a secret that not more than a half a dozen persons are trusted with. Younger started out across the country on foot to hunt up old acquaintances in the country. He claims to have traveled all the way here on foot.
